

BIDS OPENED IN SPECIAL MEETING

Board of Public Works Considered Proposals from Contractors for Improvements.

WILL LET CONTRACTS TONIGHT

Work on Third Street Sewer and Vine Street Improvement to Begin Soon.

At the special meeting of the board of public works last night, bids were opened for the improvement of Vine street, between High and Laurel streets, and also for the materials which will be used in the construction of the Third street sewer, which was ordered built two weeks ago. The improvement of Vine street will be made by regrading and resurfacing the street with gravel. Cement guttering, with curbing, will be built on either side of the street. The petition asking for the improvement was filed several months ago by the property holders along the street, and the council, after investigation, ordered that the proposals for the bids be made and set the time for opening the estimates for the work. The lowest bid for the improvement was filed by Kaufman & Short. There were two other bidders, James DeGolyer and J. M. Hamer, all of this city. The bids will be taken up and the contract will doubtless be awarded at the regular meeting, which will be in session this evening. The bids for the materials for the sewer on Third street were also opened at the meeting last night and will be considered at the session this evening. There were three bidders, U. G. Miller and J. M. Hamer, of this city, and the P. Brannon Sewer Pipe Company, of Louisville. The estimate filed by Mr. Miller was the lowest. This bid called for a price on 400 24-inch sewer pipes and ten or more barrels of Portland cement. According to the order of the board, no contract will be awarded for the construction of the sewer, as the city will do that work under the direction of the civil engineer and the board of public works. The law required, however, that proposals for furnishing the materials be received in open meeting, as they can only be supplied after due notice to bidders is given. The council intends to award this contract tonight, so that the work can progress as rapidly as possible and thus avoid any further difficulty with the flood waters which break through the sewer as it is now constructed. The new tile will be laid so that the flood waters will be carried to the large ditch west of the city and from there to the river. Bids were also opened for 500 feet of 2 1/2-inch fire hose. These will be taken up at the regular meeting of the council this evening. The fire department has needed an additional supply of hose for some time, as much of that which is now in use is not in good condition and will not stand a high water pressure.

DECATUR COUNTY MURDER.

Ben Noble Confesses to Killing Albert Sprague Sunday Night.

Ben Noble, who is in jail at Indianapolis charged with the murder of Albert Sprague near Burney in Decatur county Sunday night, has made a confession to Sheriff S. N. Patterson that he killed Sprague. The admission of guilt, which was obtained Tuesday night, was withheld by the sheriff until Wednesday because he had hoped to get a more detailed admission, covering all the circumstances on the night of the tragedy. Noble's confession follows: "I went home, ate my supper, then went upstairs and went to bed. Then I worried over his (Sprague's) not staying with the contract. Then I went downstairs and got the gun. Then I went to the bedroom and killed him."

"BEN NOBLE."

Sheriff Patterson, who fully vouches for the authorship of the confession, says: "This confession was made in Indianapolis on July 19, and is over the signature of Ben Noble."

According to Noble's verbal statement to Sheriff Patterson and the Indianapolis police, he had a contract with Albert Sprague to receive $20 a month and board for the work as an employee on the farm, and in addition to be allowed the privilege of driving a horse on Sunday. Noble says that he and the dead man recently quarreled bitterly, as every time he desired to drive a horse "Sprague would get the animal out and use it." As a consequence he was compelled to go to a livery stable at Burney, two and a half miles distant, and hire a rig. Noble says he is corroborated in this statement by the fact that Sunday night, before the murder, when he took his sweetheart out for a drive, he had to hire a rig from the stable. The feeling at Greensburg is so intense that the sheriff took Noble to Indianapolis rather than take the risk of mob violence.

DIXON BUSY.

Congressman From This District Confers With Democratic Leaders.

Lincoln Dixon, of North Vernon, congressman from the Fourth Indiana district, was in Indianapolis Wednesday talking over the Democratic situation in the state with various leaders. Mr. Dixon, who has been renominated, said that the campaign promised nothing except hard work and lots of it for him, as he had two things to look after, his own campaign and the business about the headquarters of the Democratic congressional committee, which will be opened in Chicago, August 1. Congressman James T. Lloyd, of Missouri, is chairman of the committee, but the active charge of the business at headquarters will be in Dixon's hands. The actual working plans of the committee have not been worked out in detail.

Mr. Dixon reported affairs in his own district in better condition this year, from a Democratic viewpoint, than they ever were before, and he predicts his own re-election by a handsome majority. Mr. Dixon called on Governor Marshall and spent considerable time with Burt New, the Governor's legal clerk. Mr. New and Mr. Dixon live across the street from each other in North Vernon and have been close personal friends for years.

Omer Owens, who is working in the car barns at the Interurban station, is moving his family down here from North Blish street.

JOHN G. WILLKOM DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly While on a Visit in This County.

John G. Willkom, formerly a prominent farmer of Jackson county, but for several years a resident of Hoosier, N. D., died suddenly this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Andrew Ruddick, near Farmington. Mrs. Willkom was awakened by the heavy breathing of her husband and placed her hand upon his face, when she realized immediately that he was ill. She called her daughter, Mrs. Ruddick, who, with her husband, hastened to Mr. Willkom's room, but had hardly reached his bedside before he expired.

Mr. Willkom had been in poor health for some time, but his condition was not believed to be serious, and his death came as a shock to his many friends who knew that he was in this part of the county on a short visit. He had intended to return to his home today.

The deceased was born in the state of New York, September 28, 1847, making his age 62 years, 9 months and 23 days. At an early age he moved to Indiana and located in Jennings county. Later he purchased a farm in this county and resided here until about five years ago, when he moved to North Dakota.

He is survived by his wife and five children, two sons and three daughters. They are: John, of North Dakota; Ed, who is in the service of the United States army; Mrs. Elizabeth Matthews, of Uniontown; Mrs. Mary Barkman, of the county line, and Mrs. Flora Ruddick, of Farmington.

The funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. Burial at Mt. Zion cemetery.

SLOW TO REPORT.

Corporations Negligent in Filing Semi-Annual Statements.

Twenty-five per cent. of the corporations of the state are yet to make the regular semi-annual reports to the secretary of state. The final date for reporting in order to avoid the penalty is July 31. The new federal law requiring a report to the district revenue collector for taxation purposes has confused some of the corporations, it is believed, and many of them are thought to have considered that they satisfied all requirements against them when they made their reports to the federal authorities. However, the reports to the state and those to the federal authorities are separate, and have nothing to do with one another.

The receipts for the office of the secretary, which contain the fees accompanying the corporation reports, for the first nineteen days of July of this year are greater than the receipts for the entire month of July 1909, by approximately $1,000.

Sprained His Ankle.

Orris Stanfield sprained his ankle while playing tennis at the Country Club grounds Tuesday. He continued playing for some time after the accident, and is now using a pair of crutches to get about. He will probably be all right in a few days.

Two New Wagons.

The H. C. Whitmer Medicine Company received two new wagons this morning. One of these will be sent to F. Adams in Jefferson county, and the other to Frank Dilt in Ripley county.

Finished Threshing.

Henry Ahlert has finished wheat threshing, and from thirty-six acres averaged thirty-five bushels and twenty pounds per acre.

GAME WARDENS WARNED.

Directed to Be Careful in Using Their Revolvers.

George W. Miles, state fish and game commissioner, has issued a circular letter to the deputy wardens out over the state, directing that they take the utmost care in using their revolvers, and to make certain before displaying them, that it is for the defense of their own lives, or when pressed into a corner in doing their duty. The recent experience of A. M. Gallion, a deputy warden, who was shot by James Haynes, in Jasper county, after Gallion had fired at Haynes when attempting the latter's arrest, prompted the letter. The state commissioner will go the Jasper county, he said, to investigate the Gallion-Haynes case. He regrets very much, he said, that the unfortunate incident occurred.

Mr. Miles has written to Gallion asking him to resign as deputy if the charges lodged against him in Ohio for alleged wife desertion are true. A requisition was recently honored for the return of Gallion, but it has not yet been served on the deputy.

MONROE AND LAWRENCE SPLIT.

Two Democratic Candidates Named For Prosecuting Attorney.

A split in the democratic convention at Bedford resulted in two candidates being nominated for prosecutor for Lawrence and Monroe counties. George O. Iseminger, of Bedford, was made chairman of the convention, whereupon the Monroe delegation walked out. The Lawrence county delegation then nominated John H. Underwood for prosecutor and adjourned. Following this the Monroe delegates returned to the convention hall and nominated Joseph Knox Barclay.

Why They Like Anna Belle.

Anna Belle, the little girl who appears each Saturday in The Republican's comic supplement, has many friends among the little folks in Seymour. They have been invited to call at this office, leave four reasons why they like Anna Belle and get a picture of her.

Below are some of the reasons given by Catherine Schaefer: "I like to play with them; I like to dress them; I like to cut them out; I like them because they get so many different dresses."

Camping Party.

A camping party composed of Cyrrill Charles, Don Bollinger, Chas. Phelan, Lynn Bollinger, Hardin Montgomery, William Handy, Edwin Heuser, Ben Garrison, and Earl Lang, of Indianapolis, will leave Saturday for their annual camping trip on White River. They will pitch their tents near Hamilton's Grove and remain on the vacation two weeks.

RESTRAINING ORDER.

Issued by Judge J. H. Shea in Bartholomew County Case.

Judge Joseph H. Shea issued a restraining order this morning in the case of Schwartzkopf vs. Sohn, which was filed in the Bartholomew circuit court. The order was to prevent the progress with certain improvements which are contemplated by the parties, and which required the removal of a stairway leading to two buildings owned by the parties to the suit. The order was somewhat unusual in the fact that it was issued by a judge of another county in which the suit was filed. The restraining order was issued under the provisions of the statutes which provide that when the judge of the circuit court in which the case is filed is away, authority is given any judge in an adjoining county to sign such order.

CLAM BAKE.

Local Elks Entertain Visitors at Camp on White River.

The Seymour Elks are entertaining a number of their lodge brothers at the Elks' cabin on White river today. A clam bake has been arranged for this evening and about fifty members will be present. A number of the local Elks went to the cabin this morning and will spend the day there.

Among the prominent visitors who are guests are, Judge Harry Montgomery and Judge Fortune, of New Albany, and Judge W. C. Utz and Senator Stotzenburg, of New Albany.

Notice.

Owing to the increase in the price of gasoline, tires and other expenses, we find it necessary to increase the fare between Brownstown and Seymour to fifty cents per trip each way. The new rate will be in effect on and after Monday, July 25, 1910.

INJURED BY BELT.

Owen Stanfield Hurt While Working At Stanfield-Carlson Mill.

Owen Stanfield received a severe injury from a flying belt Monday evening which will prevent the use of his right arm for several days. He was standing near a planer when the belt flew from the pulley and struck him on the arm.

It was fortunate that it was only a two-inch belt as it struck Mr. Stanfield with great force. His arm was badly bruised and caused him much pain.

INJURED IN WOODS.

Henry Hartman Receives Fractured Skull by Falling Branch.

Henry Hartman, who resides a short distance northeast of Waymansville, was severely injured Monday by a falling branch. Mr. Hartman is the owner of a saw mill and was in the woods when the large branch fell from a high tree and struck him on the head.

His skull was fractured and the physician found it necessary to take over a dozen stitches in dressing the wound.

A Pleasant Evening.

Walter Gilker of Columbus, and his friend, C. H. Kepley of Water Valley, Miss., spent a few hours in this town Tuesday evening and were entertained at the home of Guy and Mabel Harris. There were several friends present. Light refreshments were served and all departed at a late hour.

Boy Makes Long Trip.

Master Ernest Loney, a bright little fellow of eleven years, of Greeley, Colo., is visiting Mrs. Charles W. Clark and family in this city. The boy made the long journey from his Colorado home to Seymour by himself and experienced no trouble in changing from the different trains. He will remain here several weeks.

On Duty.

City Marshal J. T. Abell is again on duty, after having a vacation of ten days. He spent the time on the river and, although there was much rain, he caught many fish and had a very enjoyable trip. His family was with him at the camp. During his absence Tom Tucker has been acting as day officer.

Train Delayed.

Eastbound train No. 8, on the B. & O. S-W., was over two hours late yesterday evening, arriving in this city after 6 o'clock. The delay in the schedule time was due to the bad condition of the engine, which was changed here.

Canning Factory Sold.

RAWN'S DEATH
IS PERPLEXINGBurglar, Accident or Suicide,
The Conflicting Theories.

FAMILY SCOUTS LATTER THEORY

When Ira G. Rawn, President of the Monon, Descended Stairs at Home to Investigate Unwanted Sounds Below
He Was Shot by a Pistol Held at Short Range and His Own Revolver
Was Found to Have Been Discharged.Chicago, July 21.—Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon railroad, was shot to death in his summer home in Winnetka. Members of his family say he was murdered by a burglar. Those who hold to the burglar theory believe Mr. Rawn may have started down stairs to meet a man supposed to be in the house, but that instead of being shot by the burglar he tripped in his nightrobe and accidentally pulled the trigger of his own revolver as he was falling. A third theory, which is resented by members of the family and by subordinate officers of the Monon, was that Mr. Rawn took his own life, being prompted by worry and sleeplessness over the scandals which have developed in the last few weeks in the affairs of the Western Indiana road, of which he was a director, and of the Illinois Central, of which he was vice president in charge of operation until last fall.Mrs. Rawn says she was awakened shortly after 1 o'clock by a noise of someone at a door downstairs. She told Mr. Rawn of the noise and he took his revolver, against her protest, and started quietly down the front stairway in his nightdress. Mrs. Rawn followed to the head of the stairway.
Two shots were fired, she says, and her husband fell moaning down the stairway.Ralph G. Coburn, son-in-law of Mr.
Rawn, who was asleep upstairs, said he also heard two shots. When he reached the side of the dying man Mrs. Rawn was holding her husband's head in her lap and crying hysterically for aid. Neither Mrs. Rawn nor Coburn saw the burglar who was supposed to have fired one of the shots.
Mr. Rawn lived only a few minutes and was unable to explain how he had been shot. An examination of the gun he carried disclosed that it contained one empty cartridge. No bullet was found to substantiate the firing of a second shot. Members of the family explain this by suggesting that the burglar also was shot, but not in a vital place. In support of this theory they pointed to spots on a cement walk leading from the house. Close examination of these spots later revealed that they were likely paint. The screen doors were pointed out, as though having been forced open with a "jimmy."
Detectives who examined these doors and others through which the burglar was supposed to have passed, said they might have been forced, but if so the man who did the job was a novice in the business. The burglary clue therefore is being pursued on the theory that no practiced night prowler is the guilty man.Coroner Hoffman, after examining the nightrobe and the wounds of the dead man, said the shot was fired from a weapon not over two or three feet away. Powder burns on the garment indicated this. This distance does not accord with the version of the tragedy recited by members of the family. Mantel Clark, a neighbor of the Rawn family in Winnetka, told the police he saw a man running through his yard after the shots were fired.Still another clue is that Mr. Rawn was the victim of an enemy who wished to get him out of the way for business reasons. In this connection the Illinois Central scandal is mentioned.
Rawn was operating vice president of the road at the time the fraudulent car repair contracts came to light. A short time afterward he left the road and became president of the Monon.
Mr. Rawn was to appear next Tuesday as a witness in the Illinois Central cases. He also is supposed to have known more about the Western Indiana affairs than was comfortable for some who were involved in it. On the ground that someone feared the revelations, Mr. Rawn might make regarding these matters, the business enemy theory is based. Those who hold to the suicide theory believe Rawn was worried over a prospective examination and cross-examination on the witness stand. While it is not even intimated that he was involved wrongfully in the car repairs transactions, it is thought he may have feared the imputation that he was not vigilant enough as an officer in preventing them.E. C. Field, general counsel and vice president of the Monon road, has been placed in charge of the property, pending the selection of a successor to Mr.
Rawn.

Shot the Wrong Men.

Austin, Tex., July 21.—While a posse of state rangers were on a hunt for bank robbers near Navazota they came upon two men who failed to respond to their demand to halt. The rangers fired and killed one of the men. It developed that the men were Greek laborers who could not understand English. They had no connection with the attempt to rob the bank.

GRAND TRUNK STRIKE
THREATENS SPREADEngineers and Firemen May Be Next to Go Out.Cleveland, O., July 21.—It is believed at the national headquarters of the trainmen here that the engineers and firemen on the Grand Trunk will soon strike. W. S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, has left for Chicago, presumably for a meeting with the executive officers of the firemen relative to calling out the engineers on the Grand Trunk. The engineers and firemen were given positive orders not to do any work except in the engine, thus forestalling any attempt on the part of the company to have them do switching or do train-men's duty. President Lee of the trainmen announced that the Canadian officers of the organization would appeal to the government to stop the road from importing strike breakers.
The strike will be directed from Cleveland, the headquarters of the train-men.

Situation Remains Unchanged.

Detroit, July 21.—There is but little change in the strike situation of the Grand Trunk trainmen, according to a statement made by A. B. Atwater, assistant to the president. In addition to this Mr. Atwater asserts that the backbone of the strike will be broken by next Saturday. No attempt has been made to operate freight trains, though the road has a large number of strike breakers about the Brush street station and on the docks, and there are signs of activity. There has been no disturbance. The strikers are conducting themselves in a placid manner. They are apparently making no attempt to dissuade strike breakers.

Government Asked to Intervene.

Ottawa, Ont., July 21.—Though industrial conditions throughout Canada are feeling the Grand Trunk train-men's strike, so far there are no really serious results. The public is beginning to call on the labor department to settle the trouble or try to. So far there is little sign of its doing so.

A Fashion Chat On Attractive Costumes.

Furnished by Pictorial Review

222 West 39th Street, New York City

There is such a large variety of styles this year that every type of figure may be gown becomingly, and by the clever manipulation of wonderful materials a repetition of a chic costume may be avoided. The vogue of using one color to veil another is more than ever indulged in to obtain a harmonious blend, and the more these effects are wrought the more beautiful are the results obtained.

Chiffons, voiles, marisettes and silk crepes are having a decided vogue this season, for they are dainty and have the most beautiful colorings and designs. The crepe weave is reproduced in all kinds of fabrics, cotton, silk and cotton, silk and wool and all wool. It has figures in silk, small dots or printed effects. The popularity of foulard has grown apace but it has not become objectionably familiar because it is by no means a cheap material this year.

Round or Dutch necks are the rage and about nine out of ten handsome gowns are collarless. Those having the high neck are made with the yoke and collar of finely tucked or dotted net and tulle of white or cream color. The yoke and collar matching the color of the material of the gown are not often seen now.

The skirts that fall straight from the waistline to the foot are as much in style as the draped affairs, especially as they are capable of greater variation. They really may be said to include all sorts of tunic arrangements and the large class of dresses in transparent goods that are made up over slip skirts.

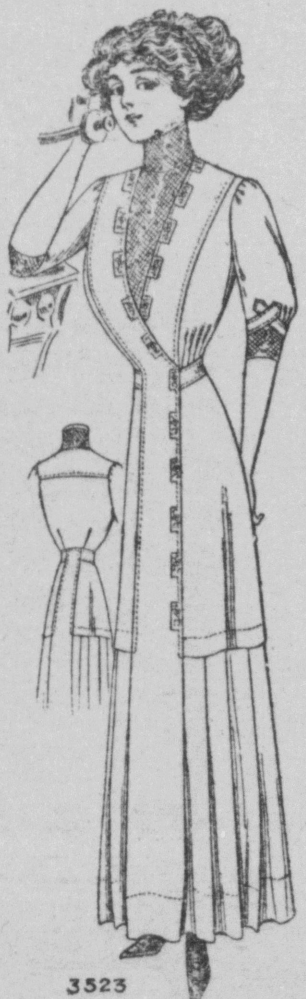

Apropos of tunics, they are a conspicuous part of the elaborate as well as the simple gown. The overskirt, too, is tremendously popular. It permits excellent opportunities for the dressmaker to show her individuality and good style.

A strikingly handsome overdress is shown in PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3538. This style has a charm and gracefulness which can be accentuated by the good taste of the wearer in selecting a soft, beautiful material for its development. Its sizes are 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure and 4 yards of 40 inch material is required for a medium size.

Embroidery of many kinds and stitches is employed to adorn the summer frock of linen or lawn, be it sheer or heavy. Eyelet work is more in evidence than it has been in seasons past. It is combined with solid embroidery for the contrast in some instances, and both are introduced in braiding designs producing a rich effect. For instance, PICTORIAL REVIEW PATTERN No. 3523 is a very adaptable style for any kind of an embroidery design as it is simple in line and the touch of embroidery gives it a distinct elegance and smartness. Ottoman silk in the rich natural color and a soutache design blending with it in tone would be charming in this instance. The effective style of the front and the continuation of the braiding design all the way down tend to give the desired length of line while the requisite fullness is obtained by the plaited section which lengthens the circular side gores. The dress closes in front and a dainty shield of lace fills the deep V. Pattern sizes are 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust measure and the medium size requires 8½ yards of material 36 inches wide, with ¾ yard of 27-inch lace or net.

The price of these patterns including cutting and construction guides is 15 cents each number.

SEATTLE LEVELS SELF BY WASHING

Hills Are Gone, Replaced by Even Grades.

WORK TO COST $12,000,000

Sixteen Million Cubic Yards of Dirt Removed by 80,000,000 Gallons of Water—Snatching of Streets From Puget Sound Next Big Project of Washington City.

The rapidly growing city of Seattle, on Puget sound, had no desire to refute the Biblical statement to the effect that a city built upon a hill cannot be hidden, but a number of years ago it came to the conclusion that it was in danger of being hidden from commercial eyes because it was built upon not one hill, but many hills.

Having come to that conclusion it was only a short step to the determination to remove the hills, some 34,000,000 cubic yards of them, so the city streets in the business district would be level. Three years ago the work on the tremendous task was begun, and since then about 16,000,000 cubic yards of earth and stone have been washed away from the hills and deposited on the mud flats in the southern section of the city, along Elliott bay, where later they will be made into new streets.

Cost to Be $12,000,000. This work has cost about $6,000,000 and will cost as much more before it is completed. It would have cost $34,000,000 if performed in the old way, with shovel and scraper. The economy has been effected because the city engineer and the contractors evolved a plan by which to make the hills help move themselves out of the way.

There was lots of water in Elliott bay, and the Pacific ocean could easily spare some; there was a great quantity in the fresh water lakes, from which the city was getting a splendid supply through its new water system constructed upon the advice of City Engineer Reginald H. Thomson.

After the regrading work was started and the expenses were piling up rapidly some one happened to think of this water and of the further fact that water runs downhill and of the additional fact that hydraulic mining is not expensive. Presto, the salt and fresh water was turned loose on Seattle's hills, and before they really knew what had happened they were resting in the shallow part of the bay. From 75,000,000 to 80,000,000 gallons of water were used daily in removing those 16,000,000 cubic yards of hills—that is, about one-sixth as much water as Chicago uses daily for all purposes.

The estimates place the total amount of excavation necessary to construct the Panama canal at 124,335,000 cubic yards. This regrade undertaking of the city of Seattle is one-third as large a project. The Seattle people have removed two-thirds as much earth in their work as has been moved in work on the big ditch.

Bigger Things in View. The Washington city hopes to complete her task by 1912 and then start on something that is really big. This job in prospect involves the construction of two more city streets a mile or more in length, snatched from the ocean at a cost of something like $18,000,000.

The hills upon which the original Seattle was perched were from 300 to 500 feet high. At the present day most of the business section streets have been cut to a width of ninety feet, and the grades have been reduced to 3 per cent and under. There are a few stretches where the width is only eighty-four feet and the grade 5 per cent.

The dirt that will have been removed would cover to the depth of three feet a square 5,831 yards each way, or three and three-tenths miles. This equals in surface area about forty-three ordinary city blocks, allowing space for alleys, wide sidewalks and wide streets. It equals, to state it in another form, a street one mile wide and nearly eleven miles long. This earth piled on one city block would reach up into the air 8,430 feet, or one and three-fifths miles. In classic language, that is "some" dirt.

HEARTBEATS BY TELEPHONE.

Physicians Diagnose Experimental Case a Hundred Miles Away.

By means of a special apparatus at one end of an ordinary telephone line a group of experimenting physicians were able to note the heartbeats of a patient 100 miles away. The test was made to determine the possibility of diagnosing heart trouble at a distance. The physicians were at the house of Mr. Milne, the noted seismologist, on the Isle of Wight, and the person whose heart was tested was in London. A stethoscope held over the heart in the ordinary manner was attached to a special telephone instrument by which sounds are magnified.

M. D. ROBINSON.

Expected to Be Guest of Roosevelt on Western Tour.

MR. FAIRBANKS GIVEN SHOCK OF HIS LIFE

"Arrested" As a "Notorious Crook" at Omaha.

Omaha, July 20.—The National Association of Advertising Clubs of America took liberties with Charles W. Fairbanks of Indianapolis when they had the ex-vice president of the United States arrested and, in the police patrol, started ostensibly for the city jail, but instead carried him to the Field club, where he was the guest of honor at a luncheon which had been prepared for him. Mr. Fairbanks protested vigorously against the arrest, insisting that he could prove his identity if given an opportunity, and it was not until the patrol drew up at the Field club that he detected the joke. He then laughed heartily over the whole affair.

Mr. Fairbanks addressed the convention and when the meeting adjourned, left the hall with the reception committee. As part of the plan the committee "ditched him for a moment," and in that moment the two policemen stepped up and identified him as a notorious crook and placed him under arrest. Fairbanks looked around for the committee, but not a member was in sight.

Protesting, he was quickly hustled into a closed automobile patrol and whirled away. When the car stopped and Mr. Fairbanks was led from the car he found himself in the midst of a crowd composed of every delegate at the convention, and then realized that he had been joked.

BARRED OUTLOOK

Kansas Town Puts Lid on T. R.'s Contribution to Futiana.

New York, July 20.—When Colonel Roosevelt left his room in the Outlook office he was hailed as he stepped out of the elevator. Somebody handed him a clipping from a newspaper that ran as follows:

"Kansas City—Because of an article by Theodore Roosevelt the last issue of the Outlook has been barred from sale in Hutchinson, Kan. An ordinance recently was passed barring prize fight pictures, newspapers containing stories of prize fights, and magazines, books or pamphlets containing such matter. The comment on the Reno fight by Roosevelt in the Outlook, caused that magazine to be barred."

He read the clipping slowly and broke into a roar. "Isn't that lovely," he exclaimed. "Isn't that lovely!"

"What will Dr. Abbott think?" asked a reporter.

"Oh, I don't know," replied the colonel, still laughing very loudly.

He thought it was the funniest thing in the world. The good old reliable Outlook becoming so sensational that it was barred from the newsstands! Everybody wondered what Hutchinson, Kan., will do when the Outlook gets out a regular sporting edition. T. R. continued to laugh.

Major General Leonard Wood has actively assumed his duties as chief of staff of the army.

Child's Skull Fractured.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 20.—Hills Rosenthal, aged sixteen, threw a stone at a dog, missed the animal and fractured the skull of four-year-old John Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee of South Eighth street. Surgeons performed an operation, but are apprehensive that if the child lives it will be paralyzed or mentally deficient.

Think They Have Robber.

New York, July 20.—In Louis Mendelbaum, arrested here as a fugitive from Belgian justice, the police are satisfied they have bagged Leibus Brjiski, alias Louis Cohen, wanted in Liege, Belgium, for robbing a bank of somewhere near 400,000 francs in cash and securities.

Car Kills Two Women.

Anderson, Ind., July 20.—Mrs. John Poor was instantly killed and Mrs. George Beaman died fifteen minutes after being struck by an interurban car in North Anderson, while driving across the track.

HOARDS OF COIN IN POSTAL BANKS

Millions to Be Put Into Circulation Again.

POSSIBLE EFFECTS NUMEROUS

People's Fund Under New Law May Become Financial Prop of National Treasury in Times of Necessity—Refunding of Current Bond Issues Is Discussed by Bankers.

A recent circular of a New York bank in discussing the possible benefits to the federal treasury of the operation of the new postal savings bank law says:

In its bearings upon treasury affairs the new postal savings bank law is practically a government finance bill. The law is one which will operate in various directions if its workings prove measurably justifiable of the theory on which it was constructed and on which it was advocated by the president and members of the administration.

It is expected that its first effect will be to call from its hiding places considerable money that is now hoarded by persons who have not yet learned to have confidence in the established banking institutions of the communities in which they live. There is every reason to believe that the aggregate of such sums reaches well into the millions.

Vast Sum to Appear.

Whatever the sum, nearly all this money will be put promptly at work under the new law. It will constitute a new source of banking deposits. The law requires that 5 per cent of the postal savings funds shall be held in the United States treasury as a reserve, permits the investment of 30 per cent in government bonds or other securities and specifically declares its intent to keep the remaining 65 per cent on deposit in the national and state banks of the communities of origin, although there is a provision under which even this may be invested in government securities upon the decision by the president that the general welfare or the interests of the government demand it.

But there are several distinct ways in which the accumulation of postal savings may serve the United States treasury at times when financing operations are necessary. For some months the treasury has been selling very close to the wind, with the prospect of having to face an issue of bonds or other securities at almost any time. By careful work and with the assistance of the corporation tax, which is now coming in, it is expected that any financing operations will be postponed at least until fall, after the general elections. With an issue of canal bonds proper out of consideration the postal savings bank law affords a source of relief which it now seems probable will be utilized as soon as the new system has provided a sufficient amount of funds.

The new law authorizes a special issue of 2½ per cent bonds, which by specific provision do not carry the circulation privilege. This rate of interest would hardly give them an investment basis, but it is provided that the postal savings funds may be invested in them. Under this provision the way lies open for the reimbursement of the treasury for these heavy canal expenditures as soon as the postal banks have attracted sufficient deposits. This is the most material and practical means of relieving the treasury which the new law affords.

Refunding Is Possible.

Another possibility is that the $64,000,000 of 3 per cent 1908-18 bonds now outstanding might be refunded by the new 2½ per cents. The threes are payable, and the new law specifically provides that whenever any outstanding bonds are subject to call they may be replaced by the new authorized 2½ per cents.

A third possibility is one which may yet have a profound effect on the national banks of the country. In attempting to establish a central bank one of the first and most difficult problems to be solved would be that of providing for the national banknotes now outstanding. In order to make satisfactory provision for them some means must be found for taking care of the $685,000,000 of 2 per cent bonds now pledged by the national banks as security for circulation and public deposits. The new law authorizes the investment of postal savings funds in the 2 per cent bonds. By purchasing these bonds from national banks for account of the postal savings system corresponding national bank circulation would be retired and the way would be paved for the issue of that amount of notes by the new central bank.

DISCUSSION GROWS HEATED IN KANSAS

Cannon and Bristow Keeping the Hustings Hot.

Marion, Kan., July 20.—"Do you see that foot? It is cloven, and I wear a shoe to conceal the fact," said Speaker Joseph G. Cannon as he plunged directly into an attack on insurgency.

"Sometimes I wonder why men that kick out of their party organization cannot learn something. There are lots of things that I don't get my way about in the Republican party, but I abide by the majority. The man that kicks out of his traces like a balky mule ought to get out of the harness. Whenever you hear a man talking about how he is going to kick out of the party traces, how he is going to be a reformer and straighten out things, then you want to watch him."

Senator Bristow at Holton replied to Speaker Cannon's thrust on the rubber schedules in which Uncle Joe said the senator had "wilfully, knowingly misrepresented facts." He pronounced the speaker a rudimentary judge of rubber. "Speaker Cannon, I am told, said that he did not know that Senator Aldrich organized a trust," said Senator Bristow. "In my Winfield address I set forth facts contained in official papers, in Poor's Manual and the Wall Street Journal, which are reliable authority."

"Whether Senator Aldrich is guilty of a technical violation of the statutes, I don't know. It is the duty of the attorney general to look into violations of the anti-trust law. But I do know that he is guilty of political dishonesty."

Walked in Front of Car.

Rushville, Ind., July 20.—Henry Trader, an aged man from Osgood, who has been here the guest of his son, was struck by an interurban car at the Big Four crossing in this city, while on his way to the station, and so badly injured that he died a little later. The man walked behind one car and immediately in front of another.

Met Death in Engine.

Peru, Ind., July 20.—L. G. Miller fell against a whirling wheel of a stationary engine and was frightfully mangled, dying shortly afterward. While working about the engine his foot slipped and before he could regain his balance he toppled so that an arm was caught in the machine. He was drawn to his death with a shriek before anyone near could get hold of him.

EMPLOYMENT FOR PRISONERS.

The large number of offenders who have been sent from the police court in this city to the county jail during the past few days, calls attention to the necessity of providing employment for such persons while they are living at the expense of the county. The majority of the men and women who are fined in the city court do not feel the ignominy placed upon them by a jail sentence, and often prefer to "lay out" their fines than to pay the costs. A short time ago a man was placed in jail and he expressed the general opinion of those arrested when he said that he regarded his sentence as a vacation, and would not think of paying his fine even though he had the ready money. This is a condition which should be given close attention, as there is undoubtedly a great opportunity for reform.

The stone pile has been suggested frequently and while that does prove satisfactory in many cities it has been tried here with a more or less degree of failure. Our public streets are in a condition where they require much work and the question is presented as to why it would not be a good plan to place some of these men upon the highways or give them some other employment which they would not be so ready to term a vacation. Most of the men who are arrested are more afraid of work than they are of the present mode of punishment.

It seems to us that this matter is worthy of attention not only by our city officials but by the county officers as the expense of providing for the many prisoners at the county jail is large, and must be paid from the treasury.

It is hoped that the method adopted by the board of public works in relieving the Third street sewer of the flood waters will prove successful. The residents of that part of the city have had much trouble with the sewer which is far too small and which has been unsatisfactory since it was constructed. The sewerage problem is one of great importance to any city, and should not be neglected under any circumstances. It is a question of sanitation, and has much to do with the healthful conditions of the city.

From all reports Tom Taggart is still captain of the Democratic forces in Indiana, and in his position of command will direct the movements of his lieutenant, the Hon. John W. Kern. Whenever the occasion is given Captain Taggart makes it known that Mr. Kern is his favorite candidate, and that it was through his efforts that Kern was chosen candidate. From all indications all the honor Kern will ever receive is making the race, a profession in which he is experienced and well tried—as a losing candidate.

NOT FOR A MINUTE

Is John W. Kern Going to Withdraw From the Race.

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, July 21.—No one who knows John W. Kern has believed for a minute that he would withdraw from the race for United States senator in Indiana. Nothing in Mr. Kern's career in politics justifies the suggestion that he will cease to be a candidate. Not only is Mr. Kern's own desires and ambitions opposed against withdrawal, but his backers are able to see that the minute Mr. Kern gets out of the contest the Republicans are in a position to say he was removed by the bosses. Which would give Republicans a tremendous advantage, and add greatly to Republican chances of winning. When any one presumes to inform you that Mr. Kern is to get out of the senatorial race and take this or that large salary job as general counsel for this or that corporation, stick a pin in the statement and smile knowingly, and proclaim its improbability.

No one can say with any great surety what may happen after election day. It is altogether possible that Mr. Kern may find it wise and discreet to quit the senatorial field after election. Even if the Democrats carry the legislature, Mr. Kern will have no hold, except a moral one, on the Democratic legislative caucus. It is recalled that Mr. Kern had a "moral" hold on the caucus of 1909, and yet slipped up and fell with a thud that echoed nearly a year later across a shuddering continent from shore to shore. No one is able to say at this time that Mr. Kern can hold the votes of Democratic legislators in 1911. He certainly failed to do it in 1909.

It is too much to say that Mr. Kern ever will obtain a toga at the hands of an Indiana legislative majority. First off, of course, there is a militant Republican party, brilliantly led and well organized, disputing every inch of the way. And then, even in the event of Democratic victory, Mr. Kern has a mighty task before him. He has got to convince those Democratic hold-over state senators that he should receive their votes, though he has smirched them seriously by bribery tales told out of school. Mr. Kern must convince north state legislators of the Shively crowd that he deserves their support, and this in spite of the fact that he has traduced Senator Shively without stint and tainted the senatorial title to the exalted seat Shively now occupies. Mr. Kern also will be called on to induce the aid of several Democratic members who may be re-elected. These members, being of the caucus which betrayed Mr. Kern, and being under the cloud cast by Mr. Kern's bribery charges, will figure things over many times before deciding that their libel is entitled to their help in the caucus.

There has been a lot of amusement over the early output of the Democratic press bureau. The first story ground out by the bureau is well written. It has style, finish, and is spelled with some regard for accuracy. But it is so devoid of facts as to be entertaining rather than informing. It goes on to tell of a conference of Republican legislative nominees which never took place. It recites a tale of a speech made to the legislative nominees, which speech never has been made. It quotes from an unnamed and indistinguishable person who was imagined to be met emerging from this imaginary caucus. And the purport of the whole business is that Republican legislative nominees are to be elected to office, but are preparing to repudiate the Republican state convention's choice for United States senator. The effect of the tale is to admit the probable election of a Republican legislative majority in Indiana, but the bureau appears to be much interested in defeating Senator Beveridge.

The ridiculous story of the imaginary caucus of legislative nominees was circulated by an ancient he-gossip or two some days ago, and was manufactured out of the whole cloth. All the newspaper men in Indianapolis knew of the yarn, but it was absolutely without a thread of fact to hang on, and newspaper workers to a man, refused to print the stuff or to peddle it. The new Taggart press bureau snatched at the discarded and refuted falsehood and spread it broadcast. It was not supposed that the Harmon and Big Interests news agency would so quickly show its teeth against Senator Beveridge. The effect is to convince the people anew that, as William Allen White says, the Interests will resort to any trick and deception in the effort to weaken Senator Beveridge with the people of Indiana.

Indiana people know too well what is expected of a campaign conducted under the management and by the methods of Tom Taggart. It may be expected that the mud and filth of the 1908 fight will be seen again. But if the new Taggart bureau wishes the people to judge its work by the first story turned out, the bureau is unfortunate. For the people are laughing at the first abortion, and are asking whether the truth would not be more profitable. The people who read the opening chapter will wait for developments. If the oncoming days do not show any further indication that the Democratic bureau told the truth about legislative conditions in the Republican party, then the people will draw their own conclusions. And the press bureau which has told falsehoods with its first breath will be properly discredited.

OPEN AIR MEALS.

What a Woman Who Has Tried the Scheme Says.

Almost every family treats itself to an occasional meal out of doors, but very few know the delights of a whole summer of out of door meals.

A woman who has tried the scheme writes as follows:

"When we built our suburban home nine years ago it never occurred to us that an outdoor dining room would be a possibility. Indeed, we never thought of such a thing, but by a happy chance the plans of our home were so arranged that it was not at all difficult to achieve our precious little dining room when we once conceived the idea. We lived here three years before we realized the pleasure we had lost by eating all summer long in a 'cozy, cheery, comfortable dining room' in the house.

"When the thought finally came to us it did not take us long to arrange things and to plan to use our little porch as an open air eating place. We had an old table with a top about four feet square which we used for a dinner table, but could never have it with doilies, for it was nothing but pine boards. For serving tables we used two old tables about 18 by 36 inches.

"How we reveled in that little 10 by 12 porch! Six o'clock is our breakfast hour, and words cannot express the exhilaration of an outdoor meal at that time. The birds are singing in every tree, and all nature seems bursting with joy. Many a time have I sat down to breakfast with a heavy shawl over my shoulders and a light wrap over my head, and when late September comes and we are forced indoors it breaks our hearts to give up our woody surroundings and be shut in the four walls of a dining room.

"A green crex rug covers the floor partly, and we have drop awnings which fasten to the floor. These we drop at night or on stormy days, and also we now have better china which we consider suitable to outdoors, and we also use our best silver. This we keep locked up in the sideboard drawers between meals.

"I cannot understand why more people have not thought of the outdoor dining room, and especially when building a new suburban home. No matter if there are neighbors, there are always rapid growing vines to be found for privacy. But anywhere in the country where there is a will it seems to me there would be a way to arrange for such a dining room.

"Last summer we never ate one meal in the house from June 1 to Sept. 1. We began early in May, having luncheon outdoors first, then added our evening dinner, but it was too cool in the early morning until June for breakfast on the porch."

This was the experience of one woman, and there is no reason why many another should not arrange an outdoor dining room on some roomy porch or even have a porch enlarged for the purpose. Where flies and mosquitoes abound a screened porch would be essential.

They're Cool and Comfortable. Even mud pies might seem glorified if made in such pinafores—cool and breezy as to neck and sleeves or, rather, lack of sleeves, and with fascinating Mother Goose and Kate Greenaway pictures on the front; big pockets, too, in which to stow away chocolate creams, pebbles, hop toads and other special treasures of the day.

Another kind of apron, of blue linen, with gay red and blue Russian embroidery and a chatelaine pocket bag, is delightful. A design, more dressy, with ruffle at the foot and ribbon ties over the shoulder, such as is illustrated, will be liked by small maids.

CHILD'S PLAY APRON.

Embroidered Initials. In embroidering initials on household linen, especially for a newly furnished house (in the case of a bride, etc.), one should try to make the style of the monogram agree with the general appearance of the room in which it is to be used. Thus the square, heavy letters are suitable for a room in mission or craftsman style, long, delicately curved French letters for the apartment in empire or Chippendale mode and round, open letters for the baby's simple nursery. This may sound farfetched, but it is surprising how conspicuous embroidered napkins and towels may become when they are out of harmony with the other appointments.

SURPRISE.

William Sutton, who has been working in Illinois the past season, came home last week. Frank Vail, who has been installing lighting plants for W. F. Anderson and James K. Crabb, returned to his home in Chicago Saturday. Levi Anderson commenced to thresh wheat Thursday. The recent rains have made the ground so soft that farmers cannot get their teams on the fields to cut oats or timothy. Mrs. Stella Ramer has sold her personal property here and gone to live with her parents in the city of Anderson. Mrs. Joe Johnson, of Marion, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Rebecca Paul, of Surprise, has gone to Hayden to visit another sister, Mrs. VanKipei, before returning home. Howard Perry, a leading merchant, has been under the weather for a few weeks. He has gone to Jennings county to spend a few days with his parents. Elder Samuel Hobson filled his regular appointment at Surprise Saturday night. Don't forget the Sunday School celebration at Surprise the last Saturday in this month. A little child of Pirtle Wilson and wife died Sunday morning of summer complaint. Funeral Monday at 2 o'clock, conducted by Elder Samuel Hobson. Burial at Acme cemetery. Our old friend and neighbor, Lafayette Heiman, formerly of this community but now with the Thomas Clothing Company, of Seymour, is taking a week's rest, visiting his parents and other relatives in this community. Elder Spears will preach in the Christian church here next Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The speakers engaged for addresses at the celebration on August 30, are Rev. C. J. Kelch, Elder Harley Jackson, Elder Winn and Rev. F. H. Reynolds.

HOW TO CURE ECZEMA, PIMPLES, AND DANDRUFF.

We desire to say that when we took the agency for ZEMO we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for Eczema, Pimples and Dandruff. Yet we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment for skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as ZEMO has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like ZEMO too, because it is a clean vegetable liquid for external use. ZEMO effects its cure by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants. With every purchase we give a booklet on skin diseases explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp diseases by this clean, scientific remedy. A. J. Pellens, Druggist.

BETHANY.

The continued rains are delaying the farmers. Charles Needles, of Scott county, threshed 700 bushels of wheat here last week for Ode Nelson and Polk Rider. Fred Nelson is home from Indianapolis assisting in the farm work. John DeWitt has gone to Springfield, Ill., to work. Mr. Summerville and family are here visiting Jacob Rider and other relatives. Mrs. Julia Franklin was here last week from Indianapolis, wanting to buy her old place back. Fred Lewis is home from Decatur, Ill., where he has been working. Jake Lewis' family have measles. Dick Thomas was at Noblesville last week, where he is taking treatment for consumption, but was called home Saturday on account of the sickness of his babe. The rains have done more damage in this township to growing crops than was ever known before. Ralph Nelson will move to Illinois about September. Mrs. George DeWitt is home from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Richey, and family, at Homer, Ill. Misses Bertha Baudie and May Rider are working at the Austin canning factory. James Haun had a valuable work horse to die last week. Guy McCall, who has been employed on the railroad, with headquarters at Cambridge City, was here Sunday.

SKIN DISEASES READILY CURED BY A SIMPLE HOME REMEDY.

If you are suffering from any form of skin or scalp disease, would you like to get prompt relief and be permanently cured by a clean, liquid preparation for external use? Mr. A. J. Pellens, the druggist, has this remedy in stock and wants his customers to know that it is recommended for Eczema, Dandruff, Tetter, Blackheads, Pimples and other diseases of the skin and scalp. Zemo has made some remarkable cures and with each purchase of ZEMO, Mr. A. J. Pellens will give you a booklet on skin diseases and you can diagnose your own case and be cured in your own home without any inconvenience or loss of time from business by this clean, simple preparation.

WEST REDDINGTON.

Mrs. William Bowman and children spent Sunday with Martin Bowman and wife. Mrs. Sylvia Steward entertained friends from Columbus Sunday. MR. BRYAN FIGHTING TO "SAVE HIS FACE"

Rump Conventions Being Called In Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., July 20.—What is thought to be a desperate attempt on the part of W. J. Bryan to gain control of the Democratic convention which will be held next week came to light when reports were received of rump Democratic county conventions called in several counties which have already instructed against Bryan. As none but Mr. Bryan can benefit by any changes in instructions to delegates, the scheme is charged to him. The first report came from Douglas county, in which Omaha is situated. The Douglas vote is the heaviest in the state, comprising one-eighth of the convention. The instructions are solid against Bryan. The rump convention called for Friday is stated by its promoters to be for the purpose of sending delegates to the state convention with Bryan instructions. A similar convention is called for Cass county, which has also instructed against Bryan. Rumors of rump conventions in many other counties are heard in political circles.

If a sufficient number of contesting delegations can be sent to the state convention and Mr. Bryan is able to control the committee on credentials, he may be able to save his face and at least effect a compromise with his enemies, who now expect to conduct the convention without recognizing Mr. Bryan in the least way.

NO MOTIVE FOR CRIME

Indiana Farm Tragedy Proves a Puzzle For Officers.

Greensburg, Ind., July 20.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Albert Sprague, the farmer who was shot to death in bed, near this city, seems to deepen at every turn. Coroner Gullefer and Sheriff Patterson are at sea. There seems to be no motive whatever for the crime, and although circumstantial evidence seems to point strongly toward Ben Noble, the farm employe, who is being detained, not enough tangible evidence has been obtained to warrant an affidavit being filed against him. Sprague seems to have had no enemies and the rumors that he and Noble had had an altercation have proved groundless. Noble was taken to Indianapolis on advice received from Sheriff Cox of Bartholomew county, that he thought it would be advisable from the tone of ill feeling expressed in that vicinity, the former home of both Sprague and Noble. A member of a searching party found an empty shell in a corn field a short distance from the Sprague home. The shell had been recently exploded, and is similar to the one found in the smoking shotgun after the crime. What is regarded as still further damaging evidence against Noble is the fact that the shell was lying just a few feet from footprints made by Noble in his stocking feet when he was supposed to be summoning help.

THE PRESIDENT AT BAR HARBOR

Noted Resort in a Flutter Over Distinguished Visitor.

FIRST CONSIDERATION GOLF

Politics is to be severely frowned upon, the President letting it be known that the lure of the links is more attractive just now than any of the points in the big game that is always uppermost at Washington.

Bar Harbor, Me., July 21.—Although President Taft came to Bar Harbor to enjoy the social life of the resort, he does not intend to let the social side interfere with business. Prof. H. C. Emery, chairman of the tariff commission, reached Bar Harbor today. He has just returned from a trip of investigation in Europe and especially in Germany. His investigations were directed mainly toward obtaining a basis for a comparison of cost of production here and abroad. The president will see Mr. Emery on board the Mayflower. He wants to talk to the chairman before he sees the whole commission at Beverly next month. It is understood that Mr. Emery's researches may furnish ammunition for speeches in defense of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law in the fall campaign.

When the Mayflower, with the president, Mrs. Taft and their guests aboard, dropped anchor off Bar Harbor there were no old war veterans to lug out battle-dented muzzle-loading cannon to fire the presidential salute, but the big glistening yachts in the harbor strung out yards and yards of pennants of every color and the whistles tooted shrill welcome. There were only a few of the summer folks down to see the president, but lots of Maine citizens were there and they cheered right well.

First Selectman J. M. Bunker, whose position corresponds to that of mayor, in that he entertains all distinguished visitors, took Mr. Taft for a ride about Mt. Desert Island; but the lure of the game was strong, and before an hour Mr. Taft was on the links at the Kebo Valley club. He came ashore wearing a double-breasted blue serge coat with flannel trousers and a gray fedora hat, but changed to other togs at Kebo. Mrs. Taft and the others of the party went coaching. Philip Livingston of New York was host and tooted the coach.

It is likely that the Maine politicians will make much of the president's visit to Bangor. In addition to Senator Hale, ex-Governor Cobb, ex-Governor John Hill, who is chairman of the Republican national committee; Representative E. C. Burleigh and Byron Boyd, chairman of the Republican state committee, will come over to Bar Harbor to escort the president to Bangor. Still, it is said he does not intend to talk politics publicly.

Charge Against Governor.

Des Moines, Ia., July 21.—Governor B. F. Carroll has been indicted on a charge of criminal libel by the Polk county grand jury. The charge is preferred by John Cownie, former member of the state board of control.

Alexander Holland, head of a Wall street customs brokerage firm, has been arrested charged with alleged custom house frauds said to total $250,000.

BRYAN FIGHTING FOR SELF PRESERVATION

The Contest in Home State Going Against Him.

Omaha, Neb., July 21.—W. J. Bryan won another county to his cause when the primary convention in Furnas county instructed its delegation to vote for Bryan's plan of county option in the state convention next Tuesday. Since the war started this makes the second county Bryan has had instructed for him. The opposition has received the indorsement of forty-one counties so far.

The fight is still going steadily against Bryan and his plan, 320 delegates having thus far been instructed outright against Bryan. Sixty-eight are instructed for Bryan and 154 go to the state convention without instructions. Of this number 132 have expressed themselves as against Bryan, twenty-one are in doubt and just one delegate who is uninstructed says he will vote for Bryan's plan.

There will be 886 delegates at the convention. Necessary to control the convention, 444 votes. With 320 instructed against Bryan and the 132 uninstructed but known to be against him, the opposition already have 452 votes, eight more than is necessary to control the convention. Counties from which 344 delegates are to be selected will hold primaries before Sunday. Although these counties will almost unanimously go against him, yet should Bryan control the votes of all, he will still fall short of controlling the convention.

Cube root, compound fractions, partial payments and such arithmetic stunts are to be eliminated from the curriculum of the Des Moines public schools.

STATE AROUSED BY AWFUL CRIME

The Richer Case Stirs the Humane Society.

AN UNBELIEVABLE ATROCITY

Death of Boy at Fort Wayne at the Hands of His Foster Father Reveals a State of Unnatural Depravity Unequaled in Criminal Annals, and Humane Society is Demanding Speedy Punishment.

Indianapolis, July 21.—The Indianapolis Humane Society has interested itself in the murder of Charles Coates, twelve years old, by his foster father, Moses E. Richer, living near Fort Wayne, and communications to the officials of the courts and to the Fort Wayne Humane Society, recommending the most vigorous prosecution of the case, have been ordered. Indianapolis humanitarians believe that in the Richer case a crime so revolting is on record that it should be followed by the death penalty on conviction of the murderer.

According to reports which have reached Hal E. Sheetz, secretary of the Indianapolis society, details of the murder are so revolting as to cause the belief that no human being could be guilty. The lad's body was bitten as though by an enraged animal, and the body was otherwise mutilated. Mr. Sheetz believes that humane workers everywhere should lend their sentiment toward obtaining a speedy conviction of Richer and a sentence representing the extreme penalty of the law.

DEHORITY EXPLAINS LAW

Tells Township Trustees of the Aims of the Accounting Board.

Anderson, Ind., July 21.—W. Dehority, chief, and M. F. Cox, secretary of the state public accounting board, attended a meeting of the fourteen township trustees of Madison county here. The meeting was the first of its kind that the accounting bureau attended, and it was called for the purpose of discussion of the book work of some of the funds entrusted to the trustees. Some of them explained that they feared errors in their books, as there was more than one construction of some of the laws, particularly the road and ditch laws. The trustees had no fault to find with the accounting bureau, but thought it possible some improvement might be made in the work of the trustees if certain points of the law were made more clear.

Chief Dehority said he was heartily in accord with the desire of the trustees to be well informed as to the interpretation of the law by the accounting board; that such spirit reflected the very intent of the accounting bureau. Of the 1,019 trustees in Indiana, Mr. Dehority said that more than 800 had called at the office of the bureau for discussion and explanation, and he was glad of this as opportunity was afforded there to explain matters. It was the general feeling of all of the trustees who had called that such calls on the accounting bureau will result in a better understanding of the law.

VICTIM OF OLD TRICK

Terre Haute Man Literally Heartbroken
When Filmflamed.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 21.—The sudden death of Thomas Connett here of heart disease is believed by the coroner to have been superinduced by worry because he had been the victim of an old trick. Connett took the change for a $20 bill in delivering goods to a supposed purchaser and realized he was victimized when the "customer" took the money and disappeared. Connett had been with a local company many years, and when the order came for a ton of coal and for the driver to bring $17 change, he was sent out. After the swindler disappeared Connett saw that the house was vacant.

Two Killed at Grade Crossing.

Fort Wayne, Ind., July 21.—Martha Vanauken, aged twelve, of Auburn, is dead at the Lutheran hospital in this city from injuries suffered in an accident near her home when a Lake Shore train struck a buggy in which her grandfather, Calvin Vanauken, and Martha and her two sisters were riding. Mr. Vanauken was instantly killed and the children badly injured.

WHEN IT IS HOT.

[And Nebuchadnezzar commanded the most mighty men that were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego and to cast them into the burning fiery furnace.—Daniel 1, 3.]

Consider Mr. Shadrach
Of fiery furnace fame.
He didn't bleat about the heat
Or fuss about the flame.
He didn't stew and worry
And get his nerves in kinks
Nor fill his skin with limes and gin
And other "cooling drinks."

Consider Mr. Meshach.
Who felt the furnace too.
He let it sizz, nor quivered, "Is It hot enough for you?"
He didn't mop his forehead
And hunt a shady spot,
Nor did he say: "Gee, what a day!
Believe me, it's some hot."

Consider, too, Abednego.
Who shared his comrades' plight.
He didn't shake his coat and make Himself a holy sight.
He didn't wear suspenders
Without a coat and vest,
Nor did he scowl and snort and howl
And make himself a pest.

Consider, friends, this trio—
How little fuss they made!
They didn't curse when it was worse
Than ninety in the shade.
They moved about serenely
Within the furnace bright
And soon forgot that it was hot.
With "no relief in sight."

ABDUL HAMID IS RIDDLE TO ALL EVEN IN EXILE.

Mourns His Lost Despotism at Saloniki Palace Prison.

During his thirty years' reign as an omnipotent master of 25,000,000 men Abdul Hamid, ex-sultan of Turkey, was a riddle, perplexing and impenetrable, to the whole world. Now, in the days of his exile in Saloniki, his attitude and character remain unaltered—enigmatic as ever. At one moment he is raised to the heights of bliss because the fear of assassination is no longer ever present; at the next he is cast into the depths of despair with the recollection that his autocracy and absolutism have vanished from him.

Francis McCullagh, the war correspondent, who was present in Constantinople through the revolution, has written a clever analytical study of Abdul Hamid's overthrow and the events which led up to it—"The Fall of Abdul Hamid." There is an arresting though gloomy picture of the neurotic exile's life in his palace prison, the Villa Alattini. He cannot accustom himself to the fact that he has ceased to reign and from time to time gives incoherent orders, asking for things which it is impossible to get for him.

Always the prey of the demon of melancholy, his moodiness has increased a hundredfold since he has lost the horde of musicians, jugglers and moosahabs, or amusement men, whose duty it was at Yildiz kiosk to charm away terrifying delusions. Sometimes, after having sat for hours wrapped in gloomy meditation, he strikes the table with his fist and cries, "Malediction—malediction!"

He does not know the meaning of refreshing slumber. Whenever he is obliged to close his eyes through sheer exhaustion he is fully dressed, and his couch is a long chair. Suddenly he will start up and rush round and round his chamber as if pursued by phantoms. Often he spends the live-long night before an open window, gazing in the direction of Constantinople.

Thirty members of his harem are sharing his exile with him. These he gets to tell his fortune by cards, but before the operation is finished he jumps to his feet and immediately sweeps the cards away, crying, "Futility—futility."

WINE TUBERCULOSIS' FOE.

French Scientist Believes in Alcohol
as Remedy.

Dr. Jacques Bertillon, the French scientist, believes that there is a close connection between alcohol and tuberculosis and that the most important factor that favors the development of tuberculosis in France is the alcohol in beer and spirits.

The foe of tuberculosis, he declares, is wine. In the twenty-eight departments which form the northern part of France and in which cider, beer and spirits are standard drinks the deaths caused by consumption were 230 per 100,000 inhabitants in 1900, while in the other departments where wine is the favorite drink the proportion was 140.

After the age of thirty, he says, consumption is two or three times more frequent among men than women, undoubtedly because the drinking of alcohol is more common with the former than with the latter.

VIENNESE TO SEE AMERICA.

Austrian Varsity Graduates Get Trip
Following Degree.

Supplementary to their degrees, 300 of the graduates of the University of Vienna are to make a tour of the United States. They will stay for a week or so in New York city and after that will visit Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other cities, making a study of American life. If this innovation proves a success, it is announced by Dr. Otto Schnarrendorf, educational journeys on a more extensive scale will be planned by Austrian schools and universities.

BATTLE CREEK CENTER OF CURIOUS RELIGIONS.

Michigan Soil Fertile In Growth of Strange "Isms."

Battle Creek enjoys a unique distinction, that of having been the home of more strange and freak religions than any other city in Michigan, if not in the United States. The intellectual soil seems to be fertile for the growth of mystic and occult isms.

Fifty-five years ago the Seventh Day Adventists located there and made Battle Creek their headquarters for the world. Their subsequent wonderful growth made the name of Battle Creek synonymous with Adventism. Then came the Spiritualists, and the city became widely known as the headquarters in Michigan for that cult. At one time they had a very large society, and all of the noted freethinkers and agnostics in the country went there to lecture.

It is singular that these two denominations represented the two extremes in religion, one extremely orthodox and the other the broadest kind of liberalism. Among the first settlers were a band of Quakers. Subsequently they all became Spiritualists.

Next came a colony from the east who were imbued with Fourierism and extreme ideas on religion and social life. They established a community three miles west of the city, built a college and other buildings and called themselves the Harmonists. Several authors and men of note cast their lot with this socialistic enterprise, among them being former Governor Talmadge of Wisconsin, who died while in the community.

One man who obtained a good following was Dr. Dowling. He had a strong personality and could easily in-

A SUMMER POEM.

Men mop at their brows
And mutter a curse.
The mercury climbs;
The heat's getting worse.
And therefore I write
This peek-a-boo verse.

The outlines of thought
It doesn't conceal,
Each blemish and fault
It serves to reveal.
But coolness I trust
Will make an appeal.

Its texture is sheer,
Just gossamer thin.
Its holes are quite big
To let the wind in.
You see through it quick
And find it a skin.

Sun.

fluence people. He had a brand new religion, his followers calling themselves "Christadelphians."

Dr. Swartz of Chicago dropped down to Battle Creek and was the first person to teach the "mind cure" in that city. He got a following that increased and branched off into other systems of new thought, and several societies along that line were organized, including a "metaphysical club." The city has had followers and proselytizers for the "Hermetic Brotherhood," "Age to Come," "Millennium Dawn," "Breath of Life," "Theosophy," "Gnostics," "Fire Worshipers," "Restitutionists," "Saints of God" and "Church of the Larger Hope" cults. The latest introduction into the city is a "new thought" cult called the "Flohlin brotherhood."

Mooreville, Ind., July 20.—Lightning struck a barn two miles east of here and instantly killed Fred E. Davis, aged eighteen, who had sought refuge there.

After The Grippe

"I am much pleased, to be able to write and thank you for what Cardui has done for me," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Gilliland, of Siler City, N. C.

"Last February, I had the Grippe, which left me in bad shape. Before that, I had been bothered with female trouble, for ten years, and nothing seemed to cure it.

"At last, I began to take Cardui. I have taken only three bottles, but it has done me more good than all the doctors or than any other medicine I ever took."

Take CARDUI

J 42

The Woman's Tonic

For the after-effects of any serious illness, like the Grip, Cardui is the best tonic you can use. It builds strength, steadies the nerves, improves the appetite, regulates irregularities and helps bring back the natural glow of health.

Cardui is your best friend, if you only knew it. Think of the thousands of ladies whom Cardui has helped! What could possibly prevent it from helping you?

Remember you cannot get the benefit of the Cardui ingredients in any other medicine, for they are not for sale in any drug store except in the Cardui bottle. Try Cardui.
